

A photograph of a restaurant table with several dishes and glasses. The table is made of dark wood. In the foreground, a dark green ceramic bowl contains a piece of seared fish on a bed of green peas and dark grains, all on a light-colored sauce. To the right, a white plate has a piece of fried food with vegetables. In the background, another white plate has a salad. There are several glasses, including a wine glass with red wine and a crystal glass with a drink. Small metal cups contain various sauces, including a red one.
